HEAVY TRANSPORT DVDS

ANTONOV An-124 RUSLAN

The world's largest and heaviest air freighter is an aircraft of superlatives and records. With a maximum take-off weight of 405 tonnes, this massive transport carrier can transport up to 150 tonnes of cargo. This is usually specialist freight: entire trains, power-station turbines, reactors, satellites, helicopters, aircraft engines, yachts, humanitarian supplies for crisis areas or racing cars for the Africa Rallye, disappear into its huge fuselage. Without cargo, the aircraft can stay airborne for up to 25 hours, covering 9,700 miles during this period. A minimum of 6 crew members are required on the flight deck to fly this gigantic aircraft. A camera crew has now been given the unique opportunity to accompany the pilot of an An-124 Ruslan and to document the crew's exciting and fascinating life for almost a week. Join us on a journey from Prague to Houston, Texas, with stopovers in Shannon (Ireland), Gander (Newfoundland) and at Stewart Airport in Newburgh (New York). Watch 3 pilots, 2 navigators, radio operators and avionics engineers, two flight managers and a crew of technicians and loading foreman fulfill their demanding tasks in the cockpit and on board this giant freighter!
